

i think just someone who is might have some influence in changing some of the political structures like with the lobbyists someone who would send a message that i as a voter would like to see some change in the political system he is not part of the typical political establishment change to the political system